The Plaza Hotel

STRIKING THE BALANCE BETWEEN ITS STORIED PAST AND LIMITLESS FUTURE, The Plaza Hotel in New York City has emerged from its recent $400 million renovations with a new and contemporary spirit. While the Beaux Arts décor and the legendary Oak Room and Oak Bar remain, guests will be delighted by new offerings, such as the elegant Champagne Bar and stylish Rose Club.

The Plaza Hotel offers 282 distinctive guest rooms, including 102 suites, among the largest in New York. Of these distinctive suites, two one-of-a-kind accommodations stand out – the Royal Terrace Suite and the Royal Plaza Suite.

Located on floors 20 and 21, the Royal Terrace Suite is an exceptionally large duplex with a spacious outdoor terrace. The lower level offers a richly decorated living room with fireplace, a guest bedroom with a king bed and bathroom, a butler's pantry, and a powder room. The upper level features a large master bedroom with a king bed and a bathroom with a bathtub and a separate glass shower. The suite's bathrooms are finished with inlaid mosaics in floral motifs, 24-carat gold-plated Sherle Wagner faucets and accessories, and handcrafted solid white marble vanities. In-room technology includes high-speed wireless Internet access, a wall-mounted flat screen TV in the living room and each bedroom, and a guest services panel that connects each room with a vast array of services. The living room and master bedroom have views of Central Park, while the second bedroom and terrace have 58th Street city views.

The Royal Plaza Suite is a 4,044-square-foot, three-bedroom, three bathroom suite in a private area of the hotel overlooking Fifth Avenue. Ideal for entertaining, the exquisitely designed living room features a grand piano, and the luxurious dining room seats up to 12 people. A separate study, large butler's pantry, and powder room provide a residential ambience. The master bedroom overlooks Fifth Avenue, and all three bedrooms, each with a king bed and views of The Plaza's interior courtyard and 58th Street views, have a spacious seating area. The second and third bedrooms have private entrances. As in the Royal Terrace Suite, the bathrooms are outfitted in splendid style, and in-room technology abounds, with high-speed wireless Internet access, a wall-mounted flat screen TV, and a guest services panel that connects each room in the suite with a vast array of services.

In addition to these lavish accommodations and world-class dining, guests of the Royal Plaza and Royal Terrace Suites will also enjoy shopping at the Plaza Retail Collection, featuring exclusive boutiques and purveyors of fine food, as well as health and wellness facilities. These elements, which put every modern amenity at guests' fingertips, all within The Plaza's landmark building, combine to create a luxury lifestyle experience that is at once historic and of the moment, not to mention unforgettable. ●
