The Chatwal

"We were very fortunate to work with famous designer Thierry Despont on The Chatwal. Along with Thierry's vast experience with luxurious residential homes and our knowledge and research on what the luxury client requires, we were able to produce a great looking property and a highly functional one as well. Our suites are well thought out with two full baths and other amenities such as complimentary butler service and Internet for the business and leisure traveler. I have received numerous comments from our clients on how they feel at home when staying with us – the ultimate goal of any hotelier."

THE CHATWAL NEW YORK (WWW.THECHATWALNY.COM), A LUXURY Collection hotel, is perfectly positioned in the heart of Manhattan's buzzing theater district, and recreates the iconic glamour and style of 1930s Gotham. The landmark Stanford White building opened in 1905 as the home of the famous Lambs, America's first professional theater club. Meticulously restored and modernized by Thierry Despont, the property is the first Starwood Luxury Collection hotel in Manhattan, as well as the first in the Virtuoso Preview program portfolio. The 76 guest rooms and suites draw inspiration from glamorous, early 20th-century travel. A range of indulgent amenities on-site include the

2,400-square-foot Elizabeth Arden Red Door Spa boasting three expertly appointed treatment rooms, three private changing suites with steam showers, and a manicure and pedicure studio; flexible spaces for meetings and private events for up to 120 people featuring ultra-modern technology throughout; and The Lambs Club, a generous 90-seat restaurant where diners can revel in the culinary genius of Chef Geoffrey Zakarian.

Actress Drew Barrymore has graciously lent her celebrated family name to The Chatwal's 4,500-square-foot Penthouse Floor. The Barrymore Suite, named for the actress's well-known grandfather, offers exclusive use of the 10th floor, including four spacious guest rooms, four full bathrooms, and two sitting rooms, dining rooms, and kitchenettes. Guests may also enjoy a private, heated outdoor terrace and a 1,000-square-foot roof deck overlooking 44th Street.

The Stanford White Studio named for the famous architect, originally served as the Club's library. The entire room has been meticulously refurbished and reinstalled, complete with the original oak-paneled walls and beams, a working granite fireplace with a richly detailed wood mantle, and a fully furnished private outdoor terrace. ●
