

Il Giglio Tribeca

Il Giglio has delighted guests with exquisite Tuscan fare and regional favorites since 1989. Blending contemporary design with traditional culinary roots, Il Giglio brings a storied legacy of impeccable service and luxurious plates to Tribeca’s discerning palates. A chic redesign in 2023 celebrates clean modern lines that celebrities, dignitaries, and locals feel at home in, while an expanded wine service brings hundreds of rare vintages to complement each fine dining experience.

Nestled in the heart of Lower Manhattan, Tribeca is a neighborhood where cobblestone streets meet cutting-edge culture. Once a hub of industry, this storied district now thrives as a beacon of art, design, and culinary excellence. Lofted buildings house world-class galleries, upscale boutiques, and exquisite dining, all set against the backdrop of historic architecture and modern elegance. Home to the famed Tribeca Film Festival, the neighborhood continues to attract artists, tastemakers, and global luminaries drawn to its understated luxury and timeless New York charm.

Celebrate the refined traditions of Italy in the heart of Tribeca. Il Giglio offers discerning locals a chic space to delight in exquisite handmade pastas and lovingly crafted plates that highlight the riches of the land and sea. ●
